ERIC LAATS

Nods at tasks
Stares at home screen for a bit, scrolls down through spotlight
Clicked on sign up, didn't know what to put in email
Clicked out
Scrolled a bit
Clicked sign up again
Clicked in email box, typed something in for all fields
Clicked sign up, got to profile, nods of approval
Scroll down to my email, put cursor there
Not sure where else to scroll, clicked on email, clicked on my Instagram
Back button, clicked on portfolio, scroll through, looking for something
Double click on title of Hello Feb piece/like button
Clicked on community page
Clicked on a couple people on the community map
Clicked on about, which isn't working
Took like 5EVER to load
Fist raise and a "yes I did it" whisper for finding Rosie No.1 and completed task 2
Clicked on discover-people.html
Tried to click on different people profiles
Clicked back onto homepage

Starting on index page, spotlight on one person
Slow to load again once go to community
Confused about the goal of the site because of spotlight
Confusion about if spotlight person if about her
It looks wonderful
Am I a part of the site now? (after signing up)
The discover works aren't necessarily connected to the home page people?
"This Week's Spotlight"
more info on the rest of the home page for explore/about padding on the bottom overlay
works can just all link to portfolio
Mapbox
Community images large?

Provide email for first task lmao
Firebase, make google project, config into code and then use online database to store user info – pw, email and other data

BILL

Scan through task list line by line
Immediatelly clickes to sign up
Hesitation on putting in email
Finds cindy's info
Types in email, double checking – maybe he can't read my handwriting
Sign in, takes him to my profile
Hovers to my email, hovers of back to uc davis, clicks with no response; confused about what he should do – task probably feels unfinished Clicks on all my projects and nothing is clickable
Clicks on my portfolio – trying to find that project?
Click around on my portfolio
Finally clicks back
Finally clicks on community, zooms in, clicks on some people, clicks on esther
Clicks back on profile
Click to discover and finds Esther
Instagram opens
Goes back

Third task was easy enough to figure out
Was that painful?
Hover over community people and expect popup to come up
Expectation = click and go to profile
Got to Rosie No. 1 with instruction and said "oh ohkay. Ohkay cool"
Overall layout nice
Thought clicking on profile would give you email
A little more for profile – info about email?
Unsure about whether like should do something since we haven't coded that far yet
Is this meant to be some sort of social networking site?
I think in general this is too much text for somebody to read in this context
Even on profile page it's kind of too much Engage users by making it more approachable, could have shorter pieces w/ read more or you could break it up with pull quotes; a little more porous
Not liking the big chunk of text
With the pieces on work, it would be kind of cool if it there was a little more information
	Maybe hover?
	Something that says kind of, even if it's just medium; short statement to provide some context for it
Typography is nice
Roboto's kind of a weird typeface, h1 doesn't look like p; maybe more line-height for p
Thin version maybe somewhere else?

A little more eye-catching typography for body text; relationship between h2 and h1 h1 seems thoughtful, h2 and p don't; can make it work but needs more improvement

Ah pretty
Scrolled down on index
Clikcekd on discover
Clicked on community
Clicked on different people on community
Zoomed in and out
Clcked on about
Scrolled through
Clicked back on homepage and hten back to about and hten to discvoer
Eugene? Amazing.
Went to homepage and signup – used her wn stuff, sign up
Got to profile
Navigated to community and started zooming out on the map
Clicked on all the images before getting to Rosie No. 1
Clicked on work
Finally looks at task sheet
Finds Esther, opens Instagram
Tries to click on her works
Finds Rosie No. 1, writes down oil on canvas
Inspects, tries to resize

Well that's awesome
I really liked this, it's very professional
Vivian Lu, I would totally talk to her, same concept/diff execution
I think this is really pretty, I like it a lot
I think this is a very interesting splash picture, I like the color scheme I like the typography
Attractive layout and website overall Recommendations:
Ignored tasks on purpose
How do you get people to sign up in the way you want them to Spent a lot of time thinking "IS this a publication? Am I going to find out more about the website?
15 clicks later, knew what the site was about
"Get connected, sign up here, join our community"
Tell user what to do by putting sign up in banner
IDEO mini about on top
Liked idea of action buttons and extended home page in our plan
Liked usage of white space
Having margins or full screen

Button for Instagram/social links
Visual hierarchy good
"illustrator-animators" should have space between hyphens; content strategy more info in community blurb
I think the community is actually really cool
I would expect if there's a suggestion form? Share option?
Huge mobile user, I just want to send it; make it easy = get more users!
Prompts to like – how to get users to come back and engage Notifications?
Liked discover look
Discover page, align images to page-h1
Easy to do tasks, signup hardest
